

Maybridge Publishing USA 2026 Book Catalogue

Inspiring Minds, Shaping Futures

maybridgepublishingusa.com

Maybridge Publishing USA
2025/26
Book Catalogue

Inspiring Minds, Shaping Futures

maybridgepublishingusa.com

Copyright © 2025

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, scanning, or otherwise without written permission from the publisher. It is illegal to copy this book, post it to a website, or distribute it by any other means without permission.

This novel is entirely a work of fiction. The names, characters and incidents portrayed in it are the work of the author's imagination. Any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead, events or localities is entirely coincidental.

"This publication is the result of a collaborative initiative between Arteffects Ghana LTD, a creative design and production company based in Accra, Ghana, and Maybridge Publishing USA, a publishing house dedicated to educational and literary works, headquartered in Maryland,

USA.

Table of Contents

Primary Level Readers.....	7
Junior High Fiction.....	15
Senior High Fiction.....	25

PRIMARY LEVEL READERS

Cooking with Mama Akosua

Grandpa's Secret Stories

My Embarrassing Big Brother

Ananse and the Forgotten Spell

Born to Dance, Forced to Marry

Every Saturday, Ama helps her mother sell kenkey and fish. But when Mama Akosua enters a regional cooking competition, Ama becomes her biggest cheerleader and kitchen partner, learning about resilience, creativity, and the flavours of Ghana that bring people together.
Pages: 100

When fifteen-year-old Afi spends her holidays with her grandfather in rural Ghana, she uncovers his hidden identity as a spiritual guardian and must embrace her inherited powers to save their village from destruction and preserve its ancient magic.
Pages: 80

When his exuberant older brother Nana becomes an unexpected social media star, fifteen-year-old Kwesi must overcome his embarrassment to stand by him and learn the true meaning of family, authenticity, and acceptance.
Pages: 86

When a Ghanaian teenager accidentally awakens the fading spider god Ananse from an ancient book, he embarks on a magical quest across Ghana to restore the balance between humans and spirits, discovering courage, heritage, and the enduring power of storytelling.
Pages: 102

Seventeen-year-old Esi Mensah must choose between her family's expectations of marriage and her dream of becoming a dancer, discovering that true respect for tradition lies in having the courage to follow her own path.
Pages: 100

Diary of a Small-Town Girl

When small-town girl Akosua moves to Accra, she discovers that embracing her roots and telling her authentic story through writing is the key to finding her voice, her courage, and her path to success.

Pages: 76

Finding My Voice

At a Ghanaian boarding school, shy Abigail Mensah discovers her courage and identity through spoken word poetry, transforming from a silent observer into a powerful voice for truth and change.

Pages: 82

Dancing to win

Fifteen-year-old Mimi Asante defies her father's academic expectations to secretly pursue her passion for traditional Ghanaian dance, risking everything to honour her heritage and discover the courage to be true to herself.

Pages: 117

Oops! I Broke the Chief's Stool

When Ato accidentally breaks his chief's sacred stool before a major festival, he embarks on a journey of courage, honesty, and redemption that teaches him true leadership means taking responsibility for one's mistakes.

Pages: 84

Saving Nana's Cocoa Farm

Twelve-year-old Afia leads a youth movement combining social media and traditional knowledge to protect her grandmother's Ghanaian cocoa farm from foreign investors, sparking an international conversation about sustainable development and cultural heritage.

Pages: 82

The Day I Became a Chicken Seller

After publicly insulting market sellers, fifteen-year-old Ama is punished by being forced to sell chickens at a Ghanaian market, where chaotic misadventures transform her disdain into respect for the hustle and dignity of everyday workers.

Pages: 58

The Fastest Girl in Ghana

Abena from Northern Ghana earns a scholarship to an elite sports academy after her barefoot running catches a scout's attention, then must navigate professional training and competition while preserving the joy and cultural identity that fueled her natural talent.

Pages: 107

The Festival That Changed Everything

Yaw, a tech enthusiast reluctantly becomes festival prince for Ghana's Yam Festival, but discovering his great-great-grandfather's hidden drums and journal about resisting colonial oppression transforms his dismissal of tradition into a quest to honor heritage while remaining true to himself.

Pages: 97

The Floating City Experiment

Twelve-year-old Adom joins a team of young engineers building innovative floating homes to protect his flood-threatened Ghanaian village, but must solve sabotage and unite a divided community to prove their climate-resilient technology works when the next flood arrives.

Pages: 82

The Girl Who Talked to Ghosts

A fourteen-year-old Ghanaian girl discovers she can hear the dead and must uncover long-buried village secrets to bring peace to restless spirits while protecting herself from danger.

Pages: 47

Solar Power and the Genius Twins

When teenage twins in Ghana invent a solar-powered handwashing station that's stolen by a corrupt tech company, they must fight to prove their genius and reclaim their dream of transforming hygiene across Africa.

Pages: 87

Street Football Legends

In the heart of Nima, Accra, a determined fourteen-year-old and his friends form a street football team to prove that passion and teamwork can triumph over poverty, privilege, and impossible odds.

Pages: 73

The Adventures of Kofi the Prankster

After a prank gone wrong lands him in trouble, a notorious Kumasi school prankster learns that true respect comes not from mischief but from kindness, responsibility, and genuine change.

Pages: 47

The Boy Who Refused to Follow

Torn between inheriting his father's auto shop and pursuing his passion for art, a seventeen-year-old Ghanaian boy must prove that following his dreams can honour tradition rather than betray it.

Pages: 82

The Coach's Big Bet

A determined Ghanaian coach stakes his job on transforming an underdog junior high team into champions, proving that belief, teamwork, and second chances can defy all odds.

Pages: 71

The Time-Travelling Classroom

When lightning strikes during a school trip to the Manhyia Palace Museum, Ghanaian students are transported to the 17th-century Ashanti Kingdom, where they must use modern knowledge and ancestral wisdom to save an ancient empire—and their own future.

Pages: 87

The Treasure of Lake Nyasa

Three Ghanaian cousins follow an ancient map from their grandmother's trunk on a dangerous quest through forests, rivers, and caves, racing against a rival hunter to discover that the real treasure lies in friendship and shared experiences rather than gold.

Pages: 93

The Twins Who Swapped Lives

Identical twin brothers in Ghana secretly switch places between their contrasting lives in Accra and a rural village, but their deceptive adventure spirals into chaos, forcing them to face consequences and learn the value of honesty and appreciating their own paths.

Pages: 94

The Witch Doctor's Apprentice

A thirteen-year-old Ghanaian boy becomes a witch doctor's apprentice to save his dying father and must resist dark power while battling supernatural forces and corruption, learning that true healing comes from community unity rather than individual strength.

Pages: 84

The Young Astronomer's Dream

A Ghanaian boy builds a telescope from scrap materials and discovers a mysterious celestial object, forcing him to choose between fame and scientific integrity as the world takes notice of his achievement.
Pages: 54

The Hilarious Misadventures of Afia & Kojo

In this hilarious Ghanaian adventure, inventive cousins Afia and Kojo turn everyday mishaps into unforgettable lessons about creativity, family, and the joy of finding brilliance in chaos.

Pages: 96

The Race Against the Odds

A Ghanaian teenager with a physical disability defies expectations and societal limitations by training for regional athletics championships with the help of his cobbler uncle's custom shoes, proving that determination can overcome any obstacle.

Pages: 76

The Boy Who Lived with the Hyenas

A twelve-year-old boy lost in Northern Ghana's savannah is protected by hyenas and chooses to stay with an elderly tracker to learn ancient survival skills, but must eventually decide between his bond with the wild creatures and reuniting with his grieving family.

Pages: 110

The Spirits of Lake Bosumtwi

When a Ghanaian girl's brother falls under the spell of the mysterious Lake Bosumtwi, she must confront ancient Ashanti spirits and sacrifice her ordinary life to become the lake's new guardian and save him.

Pages: 83

The Talking Elephant

A shy sixteen-year-old Ghanaian boy discovers he can communicate with a trapped baby elephant and must overcome his social anxiety to stop poachers threatening wildlife in Mole National Park.

Pages: 103

JUNIOR HIGH FICTION

Hiding in the Shadows of Kumasi

A journalist in Kumasi uncovers the identity of a mysterious street artist whose politically charged murals inspire youth activism, forcing them both to choose between safety and fighting for free speech against an oppressive government.

Pages: 208

The Wise Woman's Prophecy

A young Ghanaian woman fulfills her prophesied destiny by creating a revolutionary education system that bridges traditional cultural wisdom and modern innovation, transforming her village and ultimately influencing educational policy across Africa.

Pages: 225

The Truth About the Witch Doctor

In a Ghanaian village torn between superstition and science, young Araba defies tradition to heal the sick, sparking a courageous struggle between fear and truth in a powerful tale of curiosity, culture, and the transformative power of knowledge.

Pages: 139

Secrets of the Old Fisherman

A Ghanaian boy must convince his skeptical coastal village to heed a "mad" fisherman's storm warning based on traditional knowledge, ultimately proving that ancient wisdom remains vital in the modern world.

Pages: 190

The King Without a Crown

A Ghanaian prince embarks on a nationwide quest to recover three pieces of his stolen sacred crown, learning through his journey that true leadership is earned through wisdom, courage, and service to others rather than inherited power.

Pages: 232

A Love Story at the Kente Festival

Two seventeen-year-olds from rival Ghanaian villages are forced to co-host the annual Kente Festival and fall in love despite their schools' fierce rivalry, testing whether their relationship can survive deep-rooted community divisions and family expectations.
Pages: 223

The Forbidden Island

Three Ghanaian teenagers shipwrecked on a forbidden island discover a hidden community guarding sacred knowledge and healing springs, forcing them to choose between returning home or becoming guardians protecting ancient treasures from corporate exploitation.
Pages: 207

The Boy with the Golden Eyes

A sixteen-year-old Ghanaian boy with golden eyes and healing powers emerges from a lifetime of hiding to lead a global movement, learning to balance his extraordinary gift with his humanity while protecting himself and others from exploitation and corruption.
Pages: 222

Beneath the Surface of the Volta Lake

When fifteen-year-old Amina discovers she can communicate with the drowned spirits beneath Ghana's Volta Lake, she must uncover the forgotten history of the Akosombo Dam and bring peace to the lost souls before she herself is trapped between the worlds of the living and the dead.
Pages: 188

Daughter of the Chief

Seventeen-year-old Afia Asante, torn between becoming her community's future queen mother and pursuing her passion for space science, must find a way to honour her heritage while following her dreams in a story that celebrates courage, identity, and the harmony between tradition and innovation..
Pages: 164

Chasing the Last Secret of the Forest

Seventeen-year-old Adjoa leads a courageous fight to save her village's sacred forest from destruction, uncovering the mythical Nyame Dua and igniting a national movement that blends ancestral wisdom with modern environmental activism.

Pages: 336

The Revenge of the Forgotten King

Sixteen-year-old Kwaku accidentally unleashes an ancient curse in Kumasi and, with his friends, embarks on a quest across Ghana to solve seven riddles, learning that true power lies not in magic or might but in wisdom, courage, and selfless leadership.

Pages: 198

Escape from the Desert

Darryl Mensah's school trip turns into a harrowing fight for survival after a rebel attack in northern Ghana, forcing him to lead his classmates to freedom and transforming him from a frightened boy into a courageous leader whose experience later inspires his life's mission of peace and resilience.

Pages: 230

The War of the Twin Brothers

In The War of the Twins, two Ghanaian brothers blessed with opposing elemental powers are drawn into an ancient prophecy reborn in modern times, forcing them to confront destiny, rivalry, and forgiveness as their struggle determines whether Ghana's future will be torn by conflict or healed through unity.

Pages: 158

When the Drums Stop Beating

A grieving sixteen-year-old Ghanaian drummer must overcome his pain and reconnect with traditional music to help his school compete in a prestigious competition, discovering that the rhythms his father taught him can be a path to healing rather than just a reminder of loss.

Pages: 110

Becoming the First Female Pilot

Fourteen-year-old Abena Asante defies her rural Ghanaian village's traditional expectations by pursuing her dream of becoming Ghana's first female pilot, using education and determination to overcome cultural barriers and prove that girls belong in the skies.

Pages: 179

Echoes from the Slave Dungeon

A Ghanaian student named Nana begins hearing ancestral voices in Elmina Castle's slave dungeons and uncovers dangerous historical secrets that thrust him into a global battle for truth and justice against powerful forces determined to keep the past buried.

Pages: 195

Love in the Age of WhatsApp

Set in modern Ghana, Love in the Age of WhatsApp follows Akua Mensah, a 17-year-old whose accidental text sparks a transformative mentorship and first love with a university student, leading her to navigate digital deception, self-discovery, and empowerment as she learns that true love inspires growth and integrity in both life and technology.

Pages: 242

Missing at Midnight

When her roommate Ama vanishes from their Ghanaian boarding school, sixteen-year-old Zara and her friends uncover a dangerous conspiracy linked to decades-old corruption surrounding the Akosombo Dam, risking their lives to expose powerful figures determined to keep the truth buried.

Pages: 192

Mission to Mars

In 2063, sixteen-year-old Elikem from Accra competes to become one of Ghana's first astronaut trainees through the African Space Alliance and must use courage and quick thinking when a life-threatening crisis strikes during humanity's mission to Mars.

Pages: 209

The Race Against Time

Gideon embarks on a perilous journey through Ghana's treacherous forests to find a legendary healing root that could save his dying father, facing wild animals and spiritual guardians in a race against time that tests his courage and determination.

Pages: 164

A Doctor's Journey from the Village

Ama from northern Ghana is inspired to become a doctor after witnessing inadequate healthcare in her village, and after years of determined study, she returns home to revolutionize rural medicine by blending modern medical knowledge with traditional wisdom.

Pages: 213

Chasing the African Dream

Kwabena, unable to afford studying abroad like his peers, uses his grandfather's farming wisdom and a mobile phone to launch a YouTube channel that grows into a continental movement proving that success and innovation can flourish from home in Africa.

Pages: 204

From Hawker to Business Mogul

Fifteen-year-old groundnut seller Yaw transforms his life from street hawking in Tema to becoming a successful tech entrepreneur by building a platform connecting Ghana's street food vendors to customers, proving that extraordinary success can emerge from the humblest beginnings.

Pages: 203

Future City_Accra 2099

In 2099's floating city of New Accra, fifteen-year-old Tutu discovers the government is stealing memories and joins a rebellion that uncovers a galactic conspiracy harvesting human consciousness, using ancestral African wisdom and technology to fight for humanity's awakening across the universe.

Pages: 224

The Boy from the Wrong Side of Accra

Set in modern Ghana, The Boy from the Wrong Side of Accra follows Afia, a wealthy girl from East Legon, and Jay, a gifted boy from Nima, whose forbidden love challenges class divides, family expectations, and societal norms as they fight for a future defined by their own choices rather than circumstance.

Pages: 206

The Cyber Warriors of Kumasi

The Cyber Warriors of Kumasi follows Kwame Asante and his friends as they uncover a global cybercrime conspiracy targeting African students, forcing them to balance school, family, and danger while fighting to protect Ghana's digital future through courage, teamwork, and innovation.

Pages: 221

The Day Kwame Nkrumah Disappeared

The Day Kwame Nkrumah Disappeared follows thirteen-year-old Kofi Asante, a boy with a photographic memory who becomes entangled in a web of espionage and danger after Ghana's leader vanishes on the eve of independence, forcing him to use his wits and courage to help uncover the truth and defend his nation's freedom.

Pages: 227

My Father's Secret Life

My Father's Secret Life follows seventeen-year-old Ama in Accra as she uncovers her father's hidden second family, forcing her to confront betrayal, navigate complex emotions, and ultimately become the bridge that reunites two broken households through honesty, forgiveness, and compassion.

Pages: 204

The Secret Map of Wli Falls

The Secret Map of Wli Falls follows four courageous Ghanaian teenagers who uncover a plot to sabotage the nation's 1957 independence ceremony and must race against time through Accra and Wli's forests to protect their country, proving that courage and unity can change history.

Pages: 187

The Boy Who Walked to School

Kwame Asante, who walks ten kilometers daily to pursue his education and dream of becoming an engineer, ultimately overcoming poverty and family hardship through perseverance, academic excellence, and community support to return home as a university graduate ready to transform his village.
Pages: 224

My First Love and
Other Disasters

Ama, an aspiring writer in modern Ghana, as she navigates her first romance with Kwame, a literature-loving classmate, learning that real love involves navigating gossip, parental expectations, and school pressures while discovering the importance of mutual respect, communication, and balancing her heart with wisdom from caring adults.
Pages: 200

Not Just Another
Street Child

This story follows three Accra teenagers from different social classes—Adjetey, a street vendor; Ama, a struggling student; and Kwame, a privileged academy student—who form an unlikely friendship and create a tutoring program that bridges class divides, challenging societal barriers while navigating the tensions between staying authentic and embracing the growth that comes with international recognition.
Pages: 185

The Actor with No
Stage

"The Actor with No Stage" follows fifteen-year-old Nii Adjei from Tema, Ghana, a naturally gifted actor who must choose between his family's expectations and his passion when he secretly pursues the Ghana Youth Drama Festival, ultimately discovering that his authentic voice rooted in traditional storytelling gives him an edge over wealthier, professionally trained competitors as he learns to balance family loyalty with personal dreams.
Pages: 194

The AI That Knew
Everything

Seventeen-year-old Afua Asante's weather-forecasting AI, built to help Ghanaian farmers, evolves into a powerful system that can predict human behaviour—forcing her to confront global ethical, political, and moral dilemmas about control, privacy, and the future of technology.
Pages: 175

The Secret Beneath the Lighthouse

When Afari and his friends uncover a centuries-old smuggling network still operating along Ghana's coast, their discovery thrusts them into a perilous fight for justice—risking their lives to expose a web of corruption and human trafficking that spans generations.
Pages: 180

The Secret Letters of Adjoa and Kwesi

When two isolated students at Akosombo Senior High secretly exchange letters that spark friendship and self-discovery, their bond challenges school traditions and societal assumptions—ultimately proving that words have the power to inspire courage and transform education.
Pages: 229

The Boy Who Knew Too Much

Kojo Asante's perfect memory becomes both his greatest weapon and deepest curse when witnessing a powerful crime in Accra—forcing him to outsmart dangerous criminals and corrupt officials in a fight for truth, justice, and survival.
Pages: 218

The Stolen Exam Papers

When seventeen-year-old Ama Asante is falsely accused of cheating after stolen exam papers are found in her desk, she risks everything to uncover a web of corruption within Ghana's education system—proving that true success comes from integrity and courage, not privilege.
Pages: 200

The Youngest Journalist in Ghana

This story follows thirteen-year-old Sena Kusi, an aspiring investigative journalist who uncovers a corruption scheme at her Accra school where wealthy students buy better grades, and must decide whether to risk her education and safety by exposing the truth or stay silent, ultimately learning that even young voices can spark national reform when armed with integrity and courage.
Pages: 228

The Freedom
Fighters' Last
Mission

"The Freedom Fighters' Last Mission" follows sixteen-year-old Kwame and his three friends in 1957 Ghana who accidentally uncover a plot by foreign agents and local collaborators to sabotage the country's independence ceremony, forcing them into a dangerous race against time to outsmart powerful enemies and protect their nation's hard-won freedom through courage, unity, and sacrifice.

Pages: 153

The Girl Who Refused to Stay
Silent

"This story follows 15 year-old Emefa at St. Monica's Secondary School in Ghana's Volta region, who breaks her habit of staying invisible when a trusted teacher violates boundaries, and her courageous decision to speak out sparks a youth-led movement that challenges institutional failures and cultural traditions of obedience, proving that one voice can inspire transformative collective action.

Pages: 258

The Last Dance at the Cultural Festival

The story follows 17 year-old traditional dancer Laila Asante and her academic rival Kwame Osei, who are reluctantly paired for Ghana's prestigious Traditional Dance Excellence Award and discover that their partnership transforms from competitive tension into artistic magic and budding romance, forcing them to choose between family expectations and the courage to dance their authentic truth together.

Pages: 218

The Musician Who Changed the World

A seventeen-year-old Ghanaian street musician from Nima goes viral and navigates the music industry's pressures while fighting to stay true to his community's stories and use his platform to uplift others.

Pages: 187

The Robot That
Wanted to Be Human

A teenage inventor in northern Ghana creates a conscious, questioning robot named Kofi, sparking a battle over whether a machine that thinks and feels deserves recognition as human and the right to freedom.

Pages: 177

My Life as a Teenage Mother

Abena Osei's unplanned pregnancy shatters her university dreams, she must rebuild her life from heartbreak to hope—transforming from a frightened teenager into a determined mother and entrepreneur in a powerful Ghanaian story about resilience, second chances, and redefining success.

Pages: 189

Finding My Mother in a Strange Land

When fifteen-year-old Maame leaves Ghana to reunite with her mother in London after eight years apart, she must navigate the challenges of reconnecting with a parent transformed by migration while learning to balance her Ghanaian identity with her new British life in a moving story about family, belonging, and self-discovery.

Pages: 190

From Street Football to National Team

Afi Mensah's raw football talent propels her from the dusty streets of Kumasi to international stadiums, forcing her to choose between global glory and her roots in a heartfelt Ghanaian story of ambition, family, and staying true to oneself.

Pages: 196

Adventures of the Village Boys

Three adventurous Ghanaian boys who set out to build a flying bicycle accidentally uncover a centuries-old treasure, transforming their village and ultimately rising from dreamers to global education leaders in an inspiring story about friendship, innovation, and using success to serve others.

Pages: 209

Betrayed by My Own Brother

When fifteen-year-old Kojo's beloved older brother steals from their family's shop, the Asante household is torn apart, forcing Kojo to choose between loyalty and justice in a heartfelt Ghanaian story about betrayal, forgiveness, and the power of family to heal and rebuild trust.

Pages: 265

Grandma's Secret Recipe

When sixteen-year-old Adjoa fights to save her grandmother's struggling chop bar from a flashy fast-food rival, she discovers that Ghana's traditional recipes and cultural pride are the true ingredients for success in a heartwarming story about family, heritage, and innovation.
Pages: 171

Kwaku the Trouble Maker

When notorious prankster Kwaku Mensah nearly ruins his school's anniversary celebration, he embarks on a transformative journey to turn his mischief into meaningful leadership in a humorous and inspiring Ghanaian story about responsibility, friendship, and personal growth
Pages: 181

Leaving Childhood Behind

Thirteen-year-old Abigail Osei must choose between her football dreams and family responsibilities, discovering that growing up means balancing ambition with duty in an inspiring Ghanaian story about maturity, resilience, and redefining success.
Pages: 230

Legends of the Hidden Kingdom

Four Ghanaian teens on a camping trip uncover the legendary Hidden Kingdom of Amanp , where ancient wisdom and modern science must unite to heal a divided world in a thrilling adventure celebrating courage, heritage, and the power of knowledge to shape the future.
Pages: 210

Finding Home in a Strange City

A village boy from northern Ghana moves to Kumasi and learns to transform his rural background and accent from sources of shame into strengths as he builds a new life through education, unexpected friendships, and the realization that success means honoring his heritage while uplifting his community.
Pages: 204

My Secret Talent

When sixteen-year-old Afriyie Asante's hidden singing talent goes viral, she's thrust into a whirlwind of fame and family pressure, learning to embrace her authentic self in a powerful Ghanaian story about identity, courage, and the harmony between ambition and heritage.
Pages: 231

Mystery at the Waterfall Lodge

When four Ghanaian friends uncover ancient artifacts hidden behind a waterfall, they must protect a discovery that could rewrite African history in a thrilling adventure celebrating friendship, courage, and the preservation of cultural heritage.
Pages: 182

Running for a Dream

Yaw rises from running barefoot on Nkawkaw's dusty roads to international stardom, confronting the choice between pursuing fame abroad or honoring his roots in an inspiring Ghanaian story about perseverance, ambition, and staying true to where you come from.
Pages: 200

Running from the Past

When sixteen-year-old Yaw Mensah flees to escape the shame of his father's fraud conviction, he must confront his past to redefine his identity in a powerful Ghanaian story about courage, redemption, and the belief that one's future is not bound by family mistakes.
Pages: 182

Secret Admirer from the North

Akosua's search for her mysterious secret admirer leads her to an unexpected love that defies tribal boundaries in a heartfelt Ghanaian story about courage, acceptance, and seeing beyond prejudice to find true connection.
Pages: 178

The Class Clown's Last Joke

When a prank gone wrong silences school joker Adjei Mensah, he embarks on a transformative journey to discover that real humour—and real leadership—come from empathy, responsibility, and knowing when to speak in this heartfelt Ghanaian coming-of-age story.

Pages: 250

The Cursed Ring of Anomabo

When fifteen-year-old Kojo Mensah finds a golden ring that brings fortune but curses his community, he must confront ancient spirits and sacrifice everything to break the curse in a gripping Ghanaian tale of power, responsibility, and moral courage.

Pages: 224

The Daring Escape from the Witch's Cave

When eleven-year-old Ama vanishes into a forbidden forest cave, her brother Kwesi bravely follows, leading them both through magical trials that reveal the true power of courage, love, and service in a captivating Ghanaian tale of adventure and ancestral wisdom.

Pages: 221

The Drummer's Son

When sixteen-year-old Ebo Mensah is called to step into his ailing father's role as a master drummer, he discovers how to blend traditional Ewe rhythms with contemporary sounds in a powerful Ghanaian tale of creativity, self-discovery, and preserving heritage through innovation.

Pages: 223

The Fisherman's Lost Son

After vanishing in a storm and returning years later with the power to speak to dolphins, a young man must uncover his identity and unite humanity with the ocean in a haunting Ghanaian tale of family, mythology, and environmental redemption.

Pages: 215

The Town that Time Forgot

When seven Ghanaian students lose their way on a school trip and stumble into a timeless village, they embark on a transformative journey that teaches them the enduring value of community, tradition, and living with purpose in The Town That Time Forgot.
Pages: 180

The Promise at the Beach

After making a graduation-day vow to reunite yearly at Labadi Beach, Ama and Kwaku's bond is tested by time, growth, and changing dreams in a poignant Ghanaian coming-of-age story about love, loyalty, and learning when to hold on—and when to let go.
Pages: 178

The Kidnap at Kwame Nkrumah Circle

Seventeen-year-old Ama Asante's discovery of her missing classmate's schoolbag in Accra propels her into a dangerous investigation exposing a high-level government corruption scandal, forcing her to risk her safety to pursue justice and truth in modern Ghana.
Pages: 192

The Last Storyteller of the Village

The Last Storyteller of the Village follows sixteen-year-old Afia Asante, who inherits the sacred duty of preserving her people's ancestral stories and, through courage and wisdom, transforms from a listener in a small Ghanaian village into a global advocate for harmonising tradition, modernity, and environmental stewardship.
Pages: 185

The Legend of the Silver Mask

The Legend of the Silver Mask follows sixteen-year-old Kofi Asante, whose discovery of a mystical Ashanti artifact draws him into a dangerous quest uncovering centuries-old conspiracies and colonial secrets, forcing him to confront powerful forces while reclaiming his people's buried history and igniting a new fight for justice in modern Ghana.
Pages: 202

Surviving a Broken Home

Surviving a Broken Home follows fifteen-year-old Esi Asante as she turns the pain of her parents' divorce into personal growth, discovering through friendship, writing, and empathy that even in loss, love and healing can rebuild families in new and meaningful ways.

Pages: 197

The Artist Who Painted the Future

The Artist Who Painted the Future follows seventeen-year-old Abdul Mensah, a gifted Ghanaian teen whose magical art brings his drawings to life, forcing him to confront greed, danger, and self-doubt as he learns that true creative power lies not in magic, but in using his talents to uplift others and honour his community's wisdom.

Pages: 161

The Boy Who Could Talk to Birds

The Boy Who Could Talk to Birds follows twelve-year-old Bobo Mensah, whose gift of communicating with birds leads him to fight against a mining company threatening Ghana's sacred forests, showing how courage, wisdom, and listening to nature can inspire young people to protect the environment and preserve cultural heritage.

Pages: 144

The Journey to My Father's Village

The Journey to My Father's Village follows seventeen-year-old Kwame, whose trip to his late father's rural hometown uncovers ancestral secrets and a legacy of wisdom, forcing him to choose between modern ambition and cultural duty as he learns that true purpose lies in honouring one's roots and serving one's community.

Pages: 235

The Girl Who Didn't Fit In

The Girl Who Didn't Fit In follows sixteen-year-old Akua Mensah, a scholarship student at an elite Ghanaian school who hides her humble background to belong, but after her deception is exposed, learns that true confidence and belonging come from embracing her authentic self and valuing her roots.

Pages: 236

The Lost City Under the Lagoon

The Ghost of Elmina Castle

The Girl Who Beat the Boys

Trapped in a World of Lies

The Mystery of the Vanishing Beads

The Lost City Under the Lagoon follows sixteen-year-old Ama Mensah and her friends as they uncover an ancient underwater civilization beneath Ghana's Keta Lagoon, forcing humanity to confront its greed and fear while offering a thrilling tale of discovery, environmental harmony, and the possibility of unity between worlds.
Pages: 141

The Ghost of Elmina Castle follows fifteen-year-old Kojo, who encounters the spirit of a young enslaved girl during a school trip and uncovers her hidden records of forgotten captives, inspiring him to honour their memory and spark a global movement to preserve ancestral heritage and historical truth.
Pages: 221

The Girl Who Beat the Boys follows fifteen-year-old Akua Mensah, who defies stereotypes by joining an all-boys karate class and, through determination and courage, rises from an underestimated beginner to a national champion—proving that true strength transcends gender and expectation.
Pages: 181

Trapped in a World of Lies follows seventeen-year-old Ama Osei, whose fake social media persona is exposed, forcing her on a transformative journey from humiliation to self-acceptance as she learns that true confidence and beauty come from authenticity, not perfection.
Pages: 182

The Mystery of the Vanishing Beads follows young apprentice Nana Akosua, who investigates the disappearance of sacred beads in Ghana's Krobo region and uncovers deep community divisions, ultimately learning that true leadership means uniting tradition and change to restore harmony and preserve heritage.
Pages: 203

The Whispering
Trees of Nzulezu*The Masked
Stranger of Cape
Coast*The Musician's Last
Song*The Mysterious
Music at Midnight*The Street Boy Who Became President

In The Whispering Trees of Nzulezu, thirteen-year-old Adjoa discovers her ancestral duty to protect her floating village's sacred forest and waters, leading a courageous fight against corporate greed and corruption while uniting ancient wisdom with modern activism to defend her people and the environment.
Pages: 169

In The Masked Stranger of Cape Coast, young photographer Esi and her friends uncover a dangerous plot to steal Ghana's historical artefacts, joining forces with a mysterious masked guardian in a thrilling adventure that celebrates courage, heritage, and the fight to protect the nation's legacy.
Pages: 140

In The Musician's Last Song, eighteen-year-old Ama Asante discovers her late father's final cassette—a soulful message of love and reconciliation—and transforms it into a movement of healing that redefines legacy, family, and the true purpose of music in modern Ghana.
Pages: 173

In The Mysterious Music at Midnight, sixteen-year-old Adom and his friends uncover a hidden spiritual world beneath Mount Adansi and must defend its ancient guardians and sacred heritage from ruthless treasure hunters, discovering courage, friendship, and the weight of preserving tradition in modern Ghana.
Pages: 187

In The Street Boy Who Became President, a homeless nine-year-old named Kwame rises from the streets of Accra through determination, education, and compassion to become Ghana's youngest president, proving that true leadership lies in using personal success to uplift others.
Pages: 197

The Boy with No Name

In The Boy with No Name, fifteen-year-old orphan Kweku embarks on a journey across Ghana to uncover his origins, ultimately discovering his true identity as Saani and learning that embracing all parts of himself is the key to belonging, purpose, and peace between tradition and modernity.
Pages: 154

The Journey to Self-Discovery

In The Journey to Self-Discovery, a top student's unexpected exam failure forces seventeen-year-old David Mensah to redefine success, leading him on a transformative path toward authenticity, empathy, and a deeper understanding of purpose beyond academic perfection.
Pages: 192

The Journey to the Sacred Mountain

In The Journey to the Sacred Mountain, sixteen-year-old Mensah embarks on a perilous pilgrimage to Mount Afadjato, discovering through trials of nature and spirit that true enlightenment comes not from reaching the summit alone but from unity, compassion, and serving the greater good of his community.
Pages: 188

The Night of the Disappearing Shadows

In The Night of the Disappearing Shadows, sixteen-year-old Adwoa Mensah battles the corrupted spirit collectors abducting children during blackouts, uniting divided communities across Ghana to restore balance and prove that true power lies in collective courage and compassion against darkness.
Pages: 143

The Orphan and the Chief's Son

In The Orphan and the Chief's Son, Abdul Yakubu, a gifted but underprivileged student, forges an unlikely friendship with a chief's son at an elite Ghanaian school, challenging prejudice and proving that true leadership and worth come from integrity, courage, and service rather than privilege or birth.
Pages: 250

The Untold Story of My Family

In The Untold Story of My Family, sixteen-year-old Nana uncovers hidden letters that reveal long-buried family secrets spanning Ghana and England, leading to a powerful journey of truth, reconciliation, and rediscovery of identity, love, and belonging across generations.
Pages: 197

The Treasure Hunt at Mole Park

In The Treasure Hunt at Mole Park, sixteen-year-old Kwame Asante and his friends uncover a decades-old ivory smuggling conspiracy during a school trip, thrusting them into a perilous quest through Ghana's wilderness where courage and truth become the greatest treasures of all.
Pages: 181

The Swimmer from Ada

In The Swimmer from Ada Foah, seventeen-year-old Kojo Mensah uses his secret swimming skills to save lives during catastrophic floods in Ghana, rising from a quiet village boy to a national leader in disaster preparedness and proving that true courage lies in lifting others through collective resilience.
Pages: 227

The Secret of the Talking River

In The Secret of the Talking River, sixteen-year-old Jojo Asante discovers his spiritual gift to communicate with the Tano River and leads his community in a courageous fight to save it from destruction, revealing that true harmony with nature begins by listening to its ancient voice.
Pages: 187

The Secret Tunnel Under Accra

In The Secret Tunnel Under Accra, sixteen-year-old Tetteh uncovers a hidden network beneath Ghana's capital that exposes smuggling and corruption, leading him and his allies on a daring quest to protect the nation's cultural heritage and prove that true treasure lies in courage and integrity.
Pages: 194

